Clayfield Choirs Win Gold

Clayfield College students have got just the right voice to crow about their musical prowess.

Recently the College won four gold awards at the Queensland Youth Music Awards with our four choirs involving students from Years 4 – 12.

Head of Music, Angela Lockyer, said a surge in interest in the music program, in part because of the popularity of reality TV singing competitions, had increased the number of students participating to 300.

About 140 singers were involved in the four competing choirs: Canzona (Years 9 – 12); Caio Bella (Years 7 – 8); Campo della Voce (Years 6 – 7); and Mezzo (Years 4 – 5).

More choirs were entered this year than previous years but the decision produced dividends for the hardworking students.

“Singing is natural to them because we do it all the time. They sing every day at assemblies, concerts and events,” Angela Lockyer said.
